What are cookies?

huxon.huxelerate.it uses cookies, small text files containing a string of characters, sent by a server to the User's internet browser and automatically stored on the device and sent back to the server, automatically, each time the site is accessed.

Types of cookies:

- Technical or Strictly necessary cookies: are cookies to enable navigation on the website. They are used, for example, to authenticate, to use multimedia content or to ensure certain security measures of the site and monitor its proper functioning. In general, it is not necessary to obtain the prior and informed consent of the User;

- Functionality cookies: they allow the user to navigate according to a series of selected criteria (e.g. language, products selected for purchase) in order to improve the service provided to the user;

- Analytical cookies: used only in an aggregate and anonymous form to obtain statistical data about visits to our site. In particular, the IP address collected through these cookies is appropriately anonymized, so as to exclude the traceability to the individual user. These types of cookies are comparable to technical cookies (Guidelines on cookies and other tracking tools of 10 June 2021) and therefore the prior consent of the user is not necessary;

- Social Network cookies: they allow you to share content from the site you are visiting with other users. They allow Social Network to identify its users and collect information while they are browsing other sites. These cookies are already present on the user's devices if previously accepted on these platforms. The collection and use by these third parties is governed by their respective privacy information to which you should refer.
